

Promising Practices Conference

Supporting Older Foster Youth in Education

Join us for this free two-day event. Educators, child protection professionals, and community partners will gather for practical strategies and real connection around helping foster youth succeed in high school, college, and beyond.

Both days feature the same core content, with select breakouts tailored to each audience. One day offers a complete experience, but you're welcome to attend both.

For high school and college educators, staff, and support.
