Prevention, Retention and Contingency Plan

Effective 2/1/2025

ORC Section 5108

The Prevention, Retention, and Contingency (PRC) Program is designed to provide benefits and services needed to overcome immediate barriers to help families become and stay self-supporting. The PRC program provides for non-recurring, short-term, crisis-oriented benefits and ongoing services that are directly related to one of the four purposes of the Temporary Assistance for Needy Families (TANF) program. The four purposes of the TANF program are:

- 1) To provide assistance to needy families so that children may be cared for in their own homes or in the home of relatives.
- 2) To end the dependence of needy parents on government benefits by promoting job preparation, work, and marriage.
- 3) To prevent and reduce the incidence of out-of-wedlock pregnancies and establish annual numerical goals for preventing and reducing the incidence of these pregnancies.
- 4) To encourage the formation and maintenance of two-parent families.

Non-recurring, short-term assistance is defined as addressing crisis-oriented situations that do not provide for needs expected to extend beyond four (4) months. These non-recurring benefits and services may encompass more than one payment per year, as long as the payment provides short-term relief and addresses a crisis-oriented situation rather than meeting ongoing or recurring needs.

The services and benefits provided under the PRC program fall into three categories:

- 1) Prevention services: designed to divert families from ongoing cash assistance by providing short term non-assistance.
- 2) Retention services: provided to assist an employed member of the family in maintaining employment.
- 3) Contingency services: provided to meet an emergent need which, if not met, threatens the safety, health, or well-being of one or more family members.

These benefits and services are consistent with the federal definition of "non-assistance" as found in 45C.F.R.260.3.

The definition of "non-assistance" includes:

- 1) Non-recurrent, short-term benefits that:
 - a. Are designed to deal with a specific crisis or episode of need;
 - b. Are not intended to meet recurrent or ongoing needs; and
 - c. Will not extend beyond four months;
- 2) Work subsidies (i.e., payments to employers or third parties to help cover the costs of employer wages, benefits, supervision, and training);
- 3) Supportive services such as childcare and transportation provided to families who are employed;
- 4) Refundable earned income tax credits;
- 5) Contributions to and distributions from, Individual Development Accounts (IDAs);
- 6) Services such as counseling, case management, peer support, childcare information and referral, transitional services, job retention, job advancement, and other employment -related services that do not provide basic income support; and
- 7) Transportation benefits provided under a Job Access or Reverse Commute project to an individual who is not otherwise receiving assistance.

Civil Rights/Limited English Proficiency

The LCDJFS PRC program will be administered in compliance with state and federal civil rights and non-discrimination laws and regulations including, but not limited to, Title VI of the Civil Rights Act of 1964 as amended, Section 504 of the Rehabilitation Act of 1973 as amended, Title II of the Americans with Disabilities Act of 1990, the Age Discrimination Act of 1975, and the Ohio Civil Rights Law.

Compliance will also be met with Title VI of the Civil Rights Act of 1964 to provide meaningful access to programs by Limited English Proficiency (LEP) persons. Meaningful access means that the LEP person's situation can be effectively communicated to the service provider; the LEP person is able to understand the services and benefits available; and the LEP person is able to receive those services and benefits for which he or she is eligible in a timely manner.

Program Operation

To ensure fair and equitable treatment of families applying for PRC, the program shall be continuously in operation according to the standards of policy and procedures as set forth within this document. The covered benefits or services or the amounts specified for the benefits and services listed in the section detailing the scope of coverage may not be reduced, limited, or restricted unless the program is amended or there are no funds available.

Scope of Benefits Services

The attached PRC Scope of Coverage Chart reflects the scope of benefits and services provided under the Lorain County PRC Program. The chart also contains the assistance groups served, and the economic need standards for the service specific to the family's circumstances.

Application

To apply for PRC, a PRC-1 "Prevention, Retention, and Contingency (PRC) Program" Application form must be filed with the agency unless otherwise noted in the scope of coverage. The application, related verifications, and any other information related to this process will be kept in EDMS.

- An approved/authorized PRC application is valid for thirty (30) days from the date the agency receives the signed application to address no more than two needs in a 12-month period. When requesting assistance for additional services, clients must provide all necessary information, verification, and documentation to determine eligibility for the new service.
- Income is verified for the 30-day period prior to the application and the monthly income projected for the application period, considering expected changes.
- The total gross income, both earned and unearned of all the PRC AG members must be counted.
- There are no exclusions allowed from any type of countable income other than the gross earnings of a minor child.
- Voter Registration Applications as prescribed by the secretary of state under section 3503.10 of the ORC will be made available to persons who are applying for, receiving assistance from, or participating in the PRC Program. (Reference Section 329.051 of the ORC)
- A separate Kinship Caregiver Program (KCP) application PRC-1500 may be utilized for obtaining kinship caregiver services in coordination with the local PCSA.

Applicant Responsibility

An applicant for PRC is responsible for completing all necessary documents, furnishing all available facts and information, and cooperating in the eligibility determination process. An applicant must utilize all available income and liquid assets/resources (cash, bank accounts, CDs, stocks, bonds, etc.) to meet their needs. This includes filing applications and pursuing potential ongoing assistance programs such as OWF, SSI and the Supplemental Nutrition Assistance Program (SNAP), as well as Unemployment Compensation, Social Security, and the Home Energy Assistance Program (HEAP). Failure to pursue available income or resources that could sufficiently meet a portion of, or the entire amount of their need will result in the denial of the PRC application.

Assistance Group Composition

PRC benefits and services are available to a family assistance group (AG) who reside in Lorain County. The family assistance group must include a minor child or pregnant individual as defined in Sections 5108.01 and 5108.06 of the revised code. PRC benefits and services are also available to the non-custodial parent of a minor child who lives in Lorain County and does not live in the same household as the minor child. Non-custodial parent with current child support obligation being met through a CSEA or in the Seek Work Program.

An eligible family must include a minor child who resides with a parent, specified relative, legal guardian or legal custodian, or consist of a pregnant individual with no other minor children.

A child may be "temporarily absent" from the home for up to six (6) months in accordance with the time frames in ORC 5107.10 (which are applicable to PRC) and still qualify for PRC. During the temporary period, the child is considered to be residing with the parent, caretaker relative, legal guardian, or legal custodian. An eligible family may also consist of a minor child residing with a parent, caretaker relative, legal guardian or legal custodian and other members of the household (who may or may not be related to the minor child) who may significantly enhance the family's ability to achieve economic self-sufficiency.

For the Kinship Caregiver Program, each minor child residing with a specified relative, as defined in ORC 5107.02, is considered a child-only assistance group.

The assistance group composition for a specific benefit or service is reflected in the section, "Lorain County Department of Job & Family Services - PRC Scope of Coverage Chart". All benefits and services in the charts are meant to meet the first two general purposes of TANF.

Ineligible Family AGs

Federal and State law must be adhered to when providing PRC benefits and services. Listed below are Federal and State prohibitions based upon 42 U.S.C. 608, section 431 of PRWORA (as amended by the Illegal Immigration Reform and Immigrant Responsibility Act of 1996 and the Balanced Budget Act of 1997), and the Ohio Revised Code:

- No assistance for families without a minor child;
- No assistance to a single individual, unless such individual is pregnant;
- No medical services except for pre-pregnancy family planning services;
- No benefits or services to an individual who is not a citizen of the United States or a qualified alien;
- No assistance for families that fraudulently receive assistance under the OWF and/or PRC programs until full repayment occurs per ORC 5101.83.
- No benefits or services to an applicant or AG member who is on strike.
- Fugitive Felons.

Eligibility

To receive PRC benefits and services at least one member of the AG must be a citizen of the United States, or a qualified alien as defined in Section 5506(d) of Public Law 105-33 (the Balanced Budget Act of 1997).

Each person applying for PRC must provide the county agency (or third-party providing agency) with a social security number or apply for a social security number. Providing a number is a condition of receipt of TANF and is required under Section 1137(a) of the Social Security Act. The social security number will be used to check information provided by the individual.

Eligibility for PRC is dependent upon the AG's demonstration and verification of need for financial assistance and/or services. For eligibility to be determined the income of the AG must be compared to the economic need standard established for the benefits and services requested. The economic need standards are based upon federal poverty guideline measures which shall be updated annually when the federal poverty guidelines are released. Eligibility for the PRC AG to receive benefits or services is based on AG income that must be equal to or less than the economic need standard. See the attached Scope of Coverage Chart.

Change in Circumstance

The applicant must be able to demonstrate that a specific change in circumstance occurred within the 3 months prior to the application for PRC benefits or services that has contributed to the current, demonstrated need. Failure, by the applicant, to demonstrate the specific change will result in the applicant's ineligibility for PRC benefits. The specific change in circumstance should be tied into the four allowable categories of PRC. The caseworker should first determine that the client meets one of the four allowable categories of PRC and then determine the change in circumstance that led to this.

The change in circumstance leading to the current need must be an unexpected, life-altering event which may include, but is not limited to such things as: job loss, domestic violence, divorce, natural disaster or fire, individual providing monetary support left the household, death of a household member, new LCCS involvement in the household resulting in the removal or threatened removal of a child, homelessness, accident resulting in the client not being able to work, addition of a child or other family member into the household, and prolonged illness. It does not include routine or expected changes such as a voluntary move (not precipitated by any specific change in circumstance), change of seasons, start of a school year, inflation, holidays, sanction, legal infractions (including intentional fraudulent acts by the client such as intentionally breaking a lease), temporary or seasonal employment, and voluntarily terminating employment. For temporary employment, if no end date is specified, the employment is not considered temporary if it has lasted six months or more.

If any change in circumstance listed by the applicant is questionable, the caseworker may request documentation to verify that the change in circumstance occurred. Denial is appropriate in situations where it can be determined by LCDJFS worker that no attempt has been made to prevent the occurrence of the emergent need and the applicant can show no evidence that the household has experienced any extraordinary circumstances or expenses. Situations include making no payment toward the obligation or making only minimal payments with the knowledge that such an amount would not prevent the occurrence.

Income & Available Resources

An AG must use all resources available to them to meet the requested need. Any liquid resources readily available to meet the presenting need; including but not limited to checking, savings, and cash on hand that exceeds $1000, must be used before PRC can be authorized. The agency has the right to ask applicants to verify where income was spent to determine if resources were available to meet the requested need. If resources were available from a tax refund within 90 days of a due date for the requested need(s), that need is ineligible unless the AG can document the resources were used to pay other required bills due during that time. If resources were available to meet the requested need, then there is no PRC eligibility.

The total gross income, both earned and unearned of all members of the PRC AG shall be counted except for gross earnings of a minor child as defined in Section 5101:1-23-20 (c)(i) of the Ohio Administrative Code.

This includes all income which is normally exempt or disregarded when determining eligibility for Ohio Works First (OWF). All income which is received, or expected to be received, during the thirty (30) day budget period is considered when determining financial need. A statement is needed indicating how daily living expenses are met if AG reports no income or means of support. The 30-day budget period begins with the date of the PRC application. To make that determination the income received 30 days prior to the date of application will be verified and utilized to evaluate and project future income. Any expected changes will be documented (verified to the extent possible) and used in projecting more accurately the income expected to be received during the PRC application period. If income is received that will meet the AG's need after the 30-day budget period but before an eligibility determination, it will be considered in the budget. All income and benefits that are exempt per federal rule will be excluded in determining income eligibility for the PRC program per 5101:1-24-20 of the OAC.

For cases in which the income cannot be accurately obtained, the implementation of practices that are reasonable and prudent should occur when determining countable income. A signed JFS 07341, "Applicant/Recipient Authorization for Release of Information" should be obtained from the applicant for an inquiry. Once the release is received, verification which is obtained by phone must contain clear documentation in the PRC AG record concerning the name and position of the supplier of the information, the date the verification was obtained, the amount of the verified income, and the name of the individual who obtained the verification. More stringent verification is required when PRC benefits and services involve a direct monetary gain by the applicant, and potential opportunities for fraud are prevalent.

Unearned Income

The following are examples of unearned income which must be counted. These are examples only and are not meant to be an all-inclusive list:

- RSDI Benefits
- Veteran Administration Benefits
- Workers' Compensation Benefits
- Lump-sum Payments (including tax refunds)
- Unemployment Compensation Benefits
- Private Pension and Retirement Benefits
- OWF or Supplemental Security Income (SSI)
- Alimony and Child Support
- Strike Benefits
- Rental Income
- Investment Income
- Adoption Assistance
- Foster Care Assistance

Earned Income

Earned Income is income in which the AG member must perform some type of labor or service to receive it. The following are examples of earned income. This is not intended to be an all-inclusive list:

- Earnings from work as an employee
- Earnings from Self-Employment
- Strike benefits if the striker is required to perform services to receive payment
- Training Allowance

Residence

PRC benefits and services are available to residents of Lorain County. Residence is established by living in the county voluntarily with the intent to remain permanently or for an indefinite period.

Voter's Registration

Voter Registration applications shall be made available to persons applying for or participating in the PRC program. Reference section 329.051 of the ORC.

Standard of Promptness

The focus of this program is to provide and authorize benefits and services within ten (10) working days of the receipt of a signed application. In some instances, this time frame will not be met due to unavoidable delays on the part of the applicant or the agency.

A denial of a PRC application due solely to the expiration of the ten-day period is not an acceptable eligibility determination practice. The AG record should contain sufficient documentation of the case activity on the PRC application, including an explanation of unexpected unavoidable delays in processing the application.

Community Resources

The availability of HEAP, FEMA, or Red Cross Disaster money within the local community shall be explored prior to the authorization of PRC for services that would or could be covered by those funding agents. Consideration will be given for limited community resources, and as a result, PRC may be authorized prior to drawing on those limited funds.

All potential community resources that could assist a family in need shall be explored during the determination of eligibility. The Assistance Group PRC file should reflect all attempts to locate and utilize available community resources.

Direct and Contracted Family Stability Services

Families that qualify for Family Stability Contracted Services could access PRC funds if they meet all Federal/State requirements. Receiving Family Stability Contracted Services will not prohibit the use of PRC Direct Services provided by LCDJFS. Contracted Services will use the PRC-1 Application as determined by the agency, unless otherwise noted on the Scope of Coverage.

Services and benefits shall be provided which directly lead to or can be expected to lead the family to becoming Self-Sufficient by accomplishing one or more of the following specific four purposes of TANF:

- To provide assistance to needy families so that children may be cared for in their own homes or in the homes of relatives
- To end the dependence of needy parents on government benefits by promoting job preparation, work, and marriage
- To prevent and reduce the incidence of out-of-wedlock pregnancies and establish annual numerical goals for preventing and reducing the incidence of these pregnancies
- To encourage the formation and maintenance of two-parent families

PRC assistance will be authorized with the expectation that the PRC AG will be able to function without additional agency help. Services and benefits shall be provided which directly lead to or can be expected to lead the family in becoming self-sufficient.

Notice of Approval/Denial

Once an application for PRC is approved, the JFS 04074, "Notice of Approval of Your Application for Assistance" shall be mailed or otherwise delivered for each specific service/benefit requested. If it is determined that an application and/or service for PRC is denied, the JFS 07334, "Notice of Denial of Your Application for Assistance" shall be mailed or otherwise delivered.

AG's applying for PRC benefits have a right to a State Hearing when they disagree with the action(s) that the county agency has taken. PRC applicants are informed of the right to a State Hearing via the JFS 07501 "Program Enrollment & Benefit Information" booklet at initial application and again via the notices of approval or denial of the PRC application.

Overpayment Collections

Any erroneous payments issued under the PRC Program due to client or vendor error, misrepresentation, intentional program violation, fraud, or agency error constitutes an overpayment. All PRC overpayments are subject to recovery according to established agency collection policy and procedure.

Program Integrity and Control

Once eligibility for PRC is established, the LCDJFS director or designee will authorize and generate payment for the assistance, goods, and/ or services. Authorization may occur at any time during a period beginning on the date that PRC is approved. If payment is authorized within the appropriate period, actual payment may be made to vendors according to the procedures in place at the agency. All PRC payments are made by LCDJFS to the vendor or in rare situations to the PRC AG. The County will ensure that all agency policies meet all auditing requirements.

All Programs, including services and benefits, are subject to availability of funds.

This plan may be amended or modified at any time. All amendments will be submitted to ODJFS with an effective date of the addendum.
