Grounds for Disciplinary Action

. . . . violation of any provision of a code of ethics of the American Medical Association, American Osteopathic Association, American Podiatric Medical Association . . .

The screenshot shows the American Osteopathic Association (AOA) website's 'Code of Ethics' page. The header includes the AOA logo and navigation links for Students, Resident Physicians, Practicing Medicine, Life + Career, CME, and About Us. The main heading is 'Code of Ethics'. Below it, there's a section 'About Us' with links for 'Proposed Policies for Comment', 'AOA Policy Search', 'Board of Trustees', and 'Governance Documents'. To the right, a section titled 'The AOA's Code of Ethics provides guidance on medical ethics and professional responsibilities' states that areas of focus include interacting with patients, engaging in professional relationships, and conducting research.

This screenshot displays the 'Code of Medical Ethics: Professional self-regulation' document from the American Podiatric Medical Association, Inc. (APMA). The title is 'American Podiatric Medical Association, Inc. Code of Ethics'. The document is divided into sections: 'PREAMBLE', 'MEDICAL ETHICS (ME)', and 'boundaries'. The 'PREAMBLE' section states that all podiatrists have the responsibility of aspiring to the highest possible standards of conduct and ethical behavior, ensuring the best care is provided for individuals and groups they serve. It mentions that as members of the APMA, podiatrists accept and take seriously the common values and principles established within this code of ethics. The 'MEDICAL ETHICS (ME)' section begins with the statement: 'The following statements and precepts are considered to be dynamic and may be interpreted and applied to an ever changing society.' It then states that podiatrists who are members of the APMA are bound to abide by the APMA Code of Ethics. The 'boundaries' section includes links to 'Opinion E-9.1.1', 'Opinion E-9.1.2', and 'Opinion E-9.1.3'.

Social Media & Digital Communications

The background is blurred, showing what appears to be a textured wall or curtain. The overall mood is somber and evocative.

Sexual Misconduct

Sexual Misconduct

Duty to Report

Licensees have a personal duty to report to the State Medical Board of Ohio when they believe an individual licensed by the Board has violated the Board's laws or rules including sexual misconduct, impairment, practice below the minimal standards of care, and improper prescribing of controlled substances.

Reports of misconduct to supervisors, law enforcement or health care system management do NOT fulfill the duty to report to the Board; failure to report could result in formal disciplinary action.
