

Shifting Gears: The Blunt Truth About Marijuana & Driving

Presenters needed to teach Ohio teens about the dangers of marijuana impaired driving “Shifting Gears” is an educational program developed by AAA Northeast that is aimed at high school students and other young drivers. The program uses science-based information to explain the physical and cognitive processes that are affected by cannabis and how those effects can impact the ability to drive safely. By equipping professionals and community leaders with effective education tools, we can prevent marijuana-impaired driving and empower young drivers to make safe choices for a lifetime.
